Dear Mrs. Donaldson:

The Negro Business and Professional Women's (NBPW) of Elyria looks forward to working with the YWCA and the Community Connector grant. The YWCA and NBPW have partnered on several ventures that have benefitted our community.

We are especially excited to continue our work with the Wisdom Walkers and the female students at Elyria High School. I feel that we have had great success in providing positive adult role models for them.

Youth are a major area of emphasis in NBPW Clubs throughout the country. It's by building strong girls today, that we are assured future members for our Club and future leaders for our community.

Yours truly,

Willie Evans

To whom it may concern:

I am pleased to write in support of the Elyria School District's Community Connector application. A strong component of our Rotary club is community service. We currently have members volunteering at the high school in our Strive Program for ninth grade students.

We also donated the funds to build the Wi-Fi Café which is heavily utilized by students. So we are very excited with the prospect of continuing our relationship with the school district.

This year we created Hands On Rotary which provides our members with opportunities to become actively engaged with the community. We view the Community Connector grant as that opportunity.

Sincerely,
